Workshop 2

RECOGNIZING CHILDREN WITH DIVERSE DEVELOPMENTAL NEEDS

Research says that early intervention is beneficial for a child's development, overcoming challenges and increasing a child's success in school and life. Identifying and providing effective early support to children is one of the roles of early childhood educators. This workshop will discuss what developmental delay/disorders are, help identify early warning signs, provide strategies for success as well as for developing effective working relationships with parents. It will also include ideas on making connections and building strong relationships with other community services and childcare programs available for families.

Presenter: Malgosia Tomanik, M.Ed., is a Family Consultant who specializes in supporting children from preschool to high school age and their parents/caregivers in a variety of environments, including homes, school, and childcare settings. Malgosia is experienced in addressing concerns associated with the daily challenges of caring for a child/youth who requires support, helping to make sense of difficult behavior and supporting adults for each child in finding a way through.

Workshop 3

BEING THE BEST SUPERVISOR YOU CAN BE!

What kind of leader are you? What kind of leader do you want to be? During this fun and motivating workshop, supervisors and those aspiring to become one, will have an opportunity to gain a deeper understanding of the impact they can have on others in the workplace. Learn how you can enrich your skills in order to be the kind of leader that inspires, supports, and strengthens all those around you!

Presenter: Simmy Zaret is an educator for both the school and public health systems. Simmy feels privileged to have worked with, taught, counselled, and supported children with special needs and their families over 35 years. Through an array of workshops and speaking engagements, she now brings her extensive experience to early childhood educators, teachers, administrators, and parents on-line from coast to coast. Her focus remains on promoting a holistic, compassionate approach, to optimize success for all students both inside and outside of the classroom. She is currently working on a book which will encapsulate her methodologies, and provide practical, well-honed strategies for promoting joy and success for children of all ages. Besides her active consulting career, Simmy enjoys life in Toronto, Ontario, where she is a well-known local storyteller, avid painter, and the proud mom of two wonderful young men.

Workshop 5

PROJECTS ARE SPUN FROM AUTHENTIC INQUIRY

Would you like to learn more about Inquiry Based Learning? In this workshop we will take a deep dive into projects that were ignited by the curiosities of children which ignited long term investigations. Whether you refer to it as Responsive, Emergent Curriculum or Inquiry Based Learning, join us to discover how authentic inquiry has potential to evolve into a long term projects.

Presenter: Sue Woodward and Caren Eigenmann are the co-owners of Childgarden Preschool & Discoveries in Port Moody, BC, which was founded in 2007. Our image of the child aligns with one of the underlying principles of Reggio Emilia, in which we see the child as 'rich in potential, strong, powerful, competent, and most of all connected to adults and other children' (Malaguzzi, 1993, p. 10). Educators work alongside the children and their natural curiosity to observe and develop in-depth investigations that reflect and are built upon authentic interests of the children, making their preschool experience fun, exciting and relevant to them and their world. Educators extend and expand these interests to create deep, meaningful learning opportunities which lay the foundation for future learning. Both Sue and Caren are recipients of the Prime Minister's Award of Excellence in Early Childhood Education, in 2012 and 2017 respectively.

Date: Tuesday January 30, 2024

Workshop 6

PRECIPITATION EDUCATION: Practical Ideas for Embracing the Rain with Children

Want to feel more excited about learning and playing outside during the rainy months? Join us for a lighthearted and practical conversation about the opportunities, challenges, and logistics about programming in wet, cold, and soggy situations. We'll talk about how to shift mindsets about the rain, how to dress to stay warm and dry, play invitations involving puddles, potential inquiry studies that may emerge when being in the rain, and more.

Presenter: Karen Begley supports and empowers educators to feel fantastic about the work they are already doing by making connections between their underlying values, everyday programming, and pedagogical theory. Her playful style makes for interactive workshops that generate new ideas and increase participants' confidence and competency to bring practical and enriching experiences to the children in their care. To learn more about Karen, her work, and thoughts on childhood, learning, and care, follow her on Instagram @natureplaystudios.

Workshop 7

THE WEIGHT OF WORDS: Inclusive Language for Educators

Explore why the language we choose to use, both when speaking to and about children, matters. Review growth vs deficit mindset, positive language use, the social model of disability, and focus on specific terminology that is considered outdated and harmful. Some of which, directly relate to ASD, such as functioning labels (high/low functioning), while others are general terms used to speak about neurodiverse populations or disability, such as “special needs”/“special interests.”

Presenter: Monica Maddison has served neurodiverse children (and their families) for over 12 years. This experience ranges from one to one support, therapy, behaviour consulting, classroom advocacy, and inclusion planning. Monica is a professional speaker - educating educators across Canada and US in how to care for children through a neurodiversity affirming, intentional, and inclusive practice.

Workshop 9

PROMOTING PRESCHOOLER'S SOCIAL EMOTIONAL DEVELOPMENT THROUGH PEER INTERACTIONS

Preschool provides a unique environment for children to learn and grow, with social and emotional development flourishing through peer interactions. Through activities like play, imitation, problem-solving, and collaboration, children acquire the skills needed to foster relationships and deepen social understanding. These abilities are crucial for a smooth transition into kindergarten and future life experiences. However, some preschoolers encounter challenges in engaging with peers or making friends, requiring support from teachers, parents, or caregivers to develop essential social and emotional skills.

This workshop will share tips to nurture skills like sharing, perspective-taking, entering play, and fostering care among children. Equip yourself with the tools to empower these young learners, setting the stage for lifelong social and emotional growth.

Presenter: Monica Chan is an early childhood specialist and parent educator with a strong background in developmental psychology and early childhood education. Trained in the RIE (Resources for Infant Educators) approach, she is passionate about empowering caregivers of young children. Monica's mission is to provide invaluable support and guidance to families and educators, fostering healthy child development through informed and compassionate caregiving practices.
